JILL OAKES TAKES FIRST FLIGHT IN RICK RIEWE'S LAND AFRICA

JUNE 2 2010

Jill oakes and Rick Riewe finished Rick's Land Africa home built STOL aircraft in May of this year. After passing final inspection, Jill took to the air on June 2.

The plane handled well, and Jill made a great landing. The stick is in the center between pilot and passenger so it take some getting used to.

"The plane lands so slow it seems to take forever before the flare" she said, "The view of the ground is great because of the large windows in the doors".

Two weeks of rain leaves runways soggy

After heavy rainfall , 197mm (about 8'), since May 1, the runways are real soggy.

I guess we will all have to install floats!!

The photo shows runway 27 near the west end.
